Topical Index . . .

Cost and Management, January to December, 1963

ACCOUNTANTS AND ACCOUNTING:

European Congress of Accountants. Nov., p. 461.

The Future of the Accounting Profession. James C. Stewart. Mar., p. 99.

Human Relations—A Challenge to Accountants. John G. Hall. Dec., p. 512.

Responsibility Accounting for an Electrical Apparatus Manufacturing Plant. George P. Thomson. Two parts. May, p. 213; June, p. 261.

The Significance of Modern Mathematics to Accountants. Philip L. Blumenthal, Jr. June, p. 253.

BUDGETING:

Introducing Small Business Management to Budget Systems and Capital Budgeting. George R. Weber. Feb., p. 51.

COST ACCOUNTING:

Conversion of Inventories from an Absorption Basis to Direct Cost. John J. Overman, Jr. Jan., p. 20.

Direct Costing from the Marketing Point of View. V. O. Marquez. June, p. 243.

Incremental Cost Analysis for Contract Completion. Williard E. Stone. Nov., p. 434.

Profit Volume Analysis—The Simple and the Sophisticated. C. G. Edge. Nov., p. 439.

Statistical Analysis of Industrial Group Property Retirements. Leslie I. Szabo. Sept., p. 359.

COST REDUCTION AND CONTROL:

The Big Question: Who Should Carry Out the Manufacturing Expense Reduction Program? Donald E. Ramlow, Oct., p. 411.

Comprehensive Cost Controls for an Electrical Contracting Firm. H. A. Kurki. Two parts. Mar., p. 116; Apr., p. 158.

Control at the Operating Level. John G. Hall. Oct., p. 419.

Cost Reduction and Control Through Work Study Methods. G. A. Hillier. Oct., p. 405.

Cutting Costs Through Sound Traffic Management. H. J. Ringrose. Nov., p. 451.

The Installation of Budgetary Controls in Small Companies. T. J. Diggory. Oct., p. 393.

Managerial Cost Analysis and Control: I. In Production. Ralph Presgrave; II. In Selling and Distribution. André Parent; III. In Administration. Desmond B. Morin. July-Aug., p. 293.

A Simplified Maintenance Cost Control Program. Charles H. Ross. Feb., p. 63.

The Value of an Organized Scrap Recovery Program. Lawrence A. Shene. Apr., p. 179.

DEPRECIATION:

Depreciation. (Part Two.) W. Nobbs. Jan., p. 28.

ECONOMICS:

The European Common Market. Cyril Bell. Jan., p. 3.

Fiscal Policy and Economic Growth. K. W. Taylor. Apr., p. 147.

Why So Much Fuss About Productivity? H. George DeYoung. May, p. 196.

FINANCE AND FINANCING:

Capital Asset Feasibility Program—A Case Study. Joseph Scodro, Jr., Mar., p. 108.

INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS:

The Process of Collective Bargaining. John D. Kyle. Dec., p. 483.

MANAGEMENT:

C.I.O.S. XIII (Excerpts from addresses by Canadian speakers). Nov., p. 463.

Management's Second Half-Century. Lyndall F. Urwick. Nov., p. 457.

Making an Organization Study. Philip Creighton. May, p. 207.

Managerial Cost Analysis and Control. III. In Administration: Desmond B. Morin. July-Aug., p. 304.

Pre-installation Consideration in Electronic Data Processing. A. William Rinfret. July-Aug., p. 317.

The Social Responsibility of the Businessman. Wm. A. Preshing. Sept., p. 351.

PRICING:

Analysis of Competitive Pricing and Strengths. Harry S. Wilson. Sept., p. 339.

PROFITS AND PROFIT PLANNING:

Credit Policies—Impact on Sales and Profit. C. R. Cook. Oct., p. 387.

Profit Volume Analysis—The Simple and the Sophisticated. C. G. Edge. Nov., p. 439.

REPORTS:

Preparation and Adaptation of Budget Reports for Management Control. H. A. Pakrul. Dec., p. 493.

Reports for Action. William W. Gerecke. Feb., p. 76.

SELLING AND DISTRIBUTION:

Direct Costing from the Marketing Point of View. V. O. Marquez. June., p. 243

Managerial Cost Analysis and Control. II. In Selling and Distribution: André Parent. July-Aug., p. 297.

TRAFFIC:

Cutting Costs Through Sound Traffic Management. H. J. Ringrose. Nov., p. 451.